I asked Nick to review the CRM Business Case because I did not quite understand it all. Nick was a contractor years ago, but has been with IS for a few years now. He has quite an impressive education and experience background and he was part of a group to review RGS and other COTS products. I thought you should at least have the benefit of his comments since he is a disinterested third party. He said he would be glad to respond to any questions. Andre' L. Re _
